Walking tour in central Florence and visit of Palazzo Vecchio: once the residence of the Medici family, Lords and rulers of Florence, Palazzo Vecchio is considered the “jewel case” of the history of Florence.

“The Palazzo Vecchio resembles a giant chess piece. With its robust quadrangular facade and rusticated square-cut battlements, the massive rooklike building is aptly situated, guarding the southeast corner of the Piazza della Signoria”. This is what Dan Brown writes in his bestseller, Inferno, set in Florence, and mostly at the Palazzo Vecchio.

Follow the steps of professor Robert Langdon and learn about the history of the palace as you move through the locations and scenes of the novel. Join us and discover the real places and objects of Dan Brown's bestseller: the stunning Salone dei Cinquecento and the huge trussed structure that supports its paneled ceiling, the famous mask of Dante Alighieri, the secret passages to the most hidden and beautifully decorated rooms of the Palazzo...a fascinating experience that mixes culture, art history and fun!
